Diane -
It's really been fun having you in history & English - too bad I can't say the same about the subjects. Anyway, I'm glad I met you & hope we get in some more classes next year. Be good & all that & I'll see you next fall.

Diana,

Last year we were
soph. in that cute modeling class. This year we're jr. in this history class. Next year we'll be seniors, and who knows what class we'll be in (may be history)! It's really been fun knowing you Diane. Good luck in all you do
hon, you deserve it!

Foreword

don (dŏn) n. 1. Sir; Mr.;—a title in Spain. 2. A Spanish nobleman.

This definition of "don" is no longer complete. With the birth of Coronado High School, new meaning was brought to this word.

What is a Don? A Don is a little part of every student attending Coronado. He is the living, working part of the campus. He is the new ideas and ambitions of the year. In his face can be seen the emotions of Coronado, for he is the reflection of its true personality.

A Don, just as every personality, has many sides. We invite you to meet the Coronado Don . . .

Learning to operate modern business machines is instrumental in securing office positions today. Seniors Terrie Jensen and Janice Proudfit use team work and the mimeograph machine to run off a stencil in their office training machines class.

Progress

Stepping forward into the challenging field of today's modern educational rewards, a Don can look back with pride and say he was part of Coronado's vast program. The four years of high school education prepares a Don for the many awakening experiences he will face in the future.

Many Dons will now venture on to future education while others will find and mark their place in the world. The Don of today is the citizen of tomorrow; every phase of Coronado life is used in forming the Don into a working, useful citizen.

Double checking titration apparatus for accurate results, Dave Colkett, senior lab assistant, prepares to determine the acidity of a solution to be used by the next class. Such experiments give students insight to the composition of common compounds.

To the tune of a Spanish march, Coronado students fill the stadium for the first time this year. The September 18 pep assembly, the first gathering for the whole student body, was a new experience for many Dons.

The Absorbing of New Experiences

Experiences and instruction in new ideas and skills is part of the learning process. To continue to grow, we must absorb these new experiences and then put them to practical use.

With the undertaking of unfamiliar faces and tasks, the freshmen began their journey toward greater knowledge. Past the once frightening and stunting day of first classes, he now feels at home and ready to learn. Older Dons, too, acquired knowledges and skills to prepare them for their destinations.

So, having engaged in a motley of experiences, the Don emerges with new views and expectations for the future.

Loaded with books, Linda Gottschalk and Christine Kepler, sophomores, discuss their impressions of the first day of school. The locker areas, though crowded, are the most frequented areas on campus for between-class chatter.

Of His Campus

The Coronado campus is the home of the Don. He was born here four years ago and each year he has matured a little more. The familiar buildings for accentuated study and the mall area for between-class gossip are known and crossed by every Don every day. Coronado's buildings are modern, open to view, and distinct—each showing the spirit of the Coronado Don.

Creativity in Motion

"Creativity in clay" is experienced by Karen Pasch in her arts and crafts class. Clay sculpturing is one of the more difficult and advanced projects studied during the year.

The Coronado Don is characterized by the fitting together of the right elements to create something new and original.

By tying patience and skill, the Don tries to surpass his own qualities.

Whether creating with the mind or the hands, the outcome is as varied as the Don's personality.

Barbara Morris, senior Don, finds the construction of a suit complicated but the results well worth the time. Homemaking classes discovered sewing an inexpensive means of having well-tailored clothes.

Working with guitar and vibes, Doug Momary and Paul Kreiling, seniors, add the finishing touches to their latest arrangement "Lonely Nights." The song was arranged for the musical comedy "What Am I Doing Here?"

Drawn,
 So a real swell girl too bad we didn't have a class together this year but we still have one more to go. So see you next year. Be good, Have a swell summer. Good luck in all your endeavors.

Love ya

The Height of Enthusiasm

Eager for a better understanding of foreign countries and people, many Dons acquire a second language. Concentrating on French slides, David Dir, senior, is better acquainted with the country's language and people through these educational films and records.

Demonstrated through the roaring cheer of a victorious crowd or the inward silence of anticipation and thought, enthusiasm is found in many forms. Its expression is deep-rooted in every Don. A busy schedule of both entertainment and study kept spirits thriving, so much so that anticipation, spirit and enthusiasm are words synonymous with the Coronado Don.

Mary Martin, senior, forms the familiar "C-jump" as a victory sign. The varsity cheerleaders promote and spearhead the Don's resource of spirit throughout the year.

Jay McCauley and Bob Swan, seniors, steady the ladder for Lee Coopridger, also a senior, as he "spic and spans" one of the white shade umbrellas. Characterized by their blue and white jackets, Los Hermanos members sponsored several campaigns to clean up the campus.

To the Coronado Don, participation in school activities is not always solely for entertainment. Many extra hours are devoted for the betterment of his school and community. Ready, willing and eager, a Don is prepared to donate his time and present his services for the promotion of the finer aspects in life. In every instance the experiences gained will be used in his future, whether socially or professionally.

Diane;

I don't know what you expect me to say and I don't know exactly what I want to say. I could fill the whole book but right now it's hard to fill this page. There are a lot of things I could say but you just don't put those (proper) things in an annual. It would be up to both of us to decide whether it's been fun or not. Sometimes it's been great and the other times... You're a crazy misfit but whatever you do don't change (at least until after September. I don't know if I'll ever see you again but that's up to you. Thanks a lot...

Eric.

Have fun this summer but not too much. If I hear from you you can be sure you'll get an answer (if you want one).

The Willingness to Give Service

Keeping in step to intricate formations is perfected and then, while playing their instruments, the Dons' Band perform for their audience. Band members sacrifice many after-school hours for their school the year around.

A Don Is . . .

The Master of Competition

Set against the background of colorful campaign posters, student council members Richard Seyffer, Student Senate president; Mary Hauprich, Governor of Publicity; Diane DeBruno, Governor of Social Activities; Andi Arthur, Student Body secretary; Bob Swan, Student Body president; George Jett, Student Body vice-president; and Jay McCauley, Student Body treasurer discuss new ideas for improving student council. The honor of having the State Student Council Convention held at Coronado was secured through the efforts of this and past councils.

Striving for the maximum degree of quality, Dons try to conquer uncounted boundaries and goals. The contest of these accomplishments is found only through long and skillful hours working for the highest rewards. Whether in education, sports or other extracurricular activities, aiming high and to the point is the unlimited view of anyone wishing to win the race of competition. But winning or losing, a Don attempts the unparalleled.

Don gridders Dick McCombs (82) and Steve Bowen (20) run down a Yuma ball carrier. Coronado, listed as a AA school, rivals other such rated teams in interscholastic competition in all major and many minor sports.

Emphasizing a state of action and exposing the lighter areas of school life, the Coronado Don develops the parts of himself not touched by the regular curriculum. Each new activity brings new energy to the power of the Don in his . . .

A Don Is . . .

A Don is . . . a looking glass, which mirrors the emotions sustained during a particular moment, and then crystallizes them into fond memories. This glass, interpreted through the inquiring eye of the camera, is a facet which fuses many distinct emotions into one spectacular burst of feeling. However glossy, a looking glass—intact, unbroken, unyielding—can only reflect an image of life; the power rests with the individual to choose whether his image will be one of clear-cut decision or one of distorted indecision.

... a turbulence of symphonic sounds.

Howdy Week Heads Year

Guy Williams gets things underway at Coronado's first dance of the year. Student Council sponsors the Howdy Hop as a welcome to new students and teachers.

The Coronado Dons began the school year with "Howdy Week," a welcome to all new Dons.

All freshmen, new students, and teachers were required to wear Howdy Cards. Failure to do so resulted in the appearance before the Court of Justice, a Coronado court for wrong-doing, presided over by the honorable Richard R. Seyffer.

Student Council sponsored the Howdy Hop. Guy Williams, KRUX disc jockey, served as Master of Ceremonies by welcoming the Dons and conducting Coronado's first dance of the year.

Ties and hairdos swing during the Howdy Hop as Richard Seyffer and Becky Bones "show how it's done."

Taking a break from the dance, Dons enjoy themselves around the refreshment stand. Alpha Omega members Connie Outcalt and Jane Snyder helped the Student Council concessions by serving the awaiting Dons.

Giving instructions on counting ballots to Jim Priest and Loren Shelley is Richard Seyffer. The ballots were counted and election results announced on September 17.

Deborah Heavilin and Dorothy Luke are two of the 282 freshmen who voted for their class officers. George Jett and Richard Seyffer over-see the voting.

Freshmen Arouse Spirit With Elections

After candidates' petitions were in, the freshmen campaign began. Posters wall-papered the buildings. Speeches echoed through the auditorium, and the votes were cast. Six freshmen were selected by their class as governing officers. The newly elected were: Jon Worden, president; Chris Clark, veep; Mary Ellen Vogal, secretary; Ted Coopridier, treasurer; Maggie Gaylord, girl rep; Stephen Vance, boy rep.

Campaigning is fun, and a good speaker is one of the many requirements of a true leader. Stephen Vance addresses the freshmen in his campaign for Boy Representative.

"Madwoman,"

Declaring "I am the Mikado!", the emperor of Japan (Jim Riggs) and Katisha (Janet Ayers), elderly daughter-in-law elect, are flanked by two frightened Japanese (George Jett, Sue Fox).

Gasping, "It's alive, it's real," the Little Maids (Cherrie Anderson, Donna Webb, and Karen Pucci) examine Pooh-Bah, Lord High Everything, (Terry Privateer).

Sighing, "Oh, this is what I'll never, never do," suitor Nanki-Poo (Robyn Chapman) courts young Yum-Yum (Donna Webb). The romance ended happily, and the two were later joined in marriage.

"Mikado" Major Hits in Theater

The numerous students who participate in Fine Arts were active again this year, transforming the written word into a creative performance.

The wheels were set into motion with the choosing of whimsical, exciting, and challenging scripts, casting, set-building, and a dash of backstage "organized confusion".

The result of this was the November production of "The Madwoman of Chaillot", a romantic fantasy by Jean Giraudoux, revolving around a "let's get rid of all the evil in the world" theme. As director, James Newcomer enhanced this theme by adding a modern dance "Dream Sequence". Choreographer was Mrs. Deborah Corder.

In December, The Advanced Choral Ensemble and CHS orchestra, under the direction of Eugene Hanson and Robert Frazier, presented Gilbert and Sullivan's "Mikado", an operatic spoof on early 20th century Japan. The backstage was under the direction of Mr. Newcomer.

Unaware of the others, Mlle. Gabrielle (Andi Shields) converses with her imaginary friends, while the Countess (Colleen Cranmer) berates Mme. Constance (Janet Ayers) for soothing her dog.

The Prospector (Ken Howell) is towed off stage by the Sergeant (Bob Swierski), while Countess Aurelia (Colleen Cranmer) nods approvingly. Sets for Act I were designed by Jerry Redding.

The Sewer-Man (Lorin Shelley) reveals the truth about life in Parisian sewers to the Madwoman of Chaillot (Colleen Cranmer). Doug Momary designed sets for the basement scene.

Freshman officers Jon Worden and Stephan Vance finish construction of the chests of "gold" to carry out the theme, "Seven Cities of Cibola." All members of Student Council took part in preparations for Coronado's Homecoming.

Window, Fire,

"The Seven Lost Cities of Cibola", the Homecoming theme for '64, was highlighted by pre-week's activities.

To represent the theme, classes and clubs presented the annual cafeteria window display. Band and orchestra lettermen were judged with the winning window, while honorable mention went to the sophomore class.

The cheerleaders spearheaded and judged the car decorating contest, declaring as co-winners senior Janet Nelson and junior Tim Dugan. A close second place was taken by junior Vicki Letterly.

During the week's activities, Pep Club distributed spirit ribbons, and the junior class sold pin-on pennants.

All classes participated in the annual wood-gathering contest for Homecoming. President of the winning class, senior Lorin Shelley, lit the pre-game bonfire, with help from fellow senior Dave Rigg and Assistant Principal William Kelley.

Setting up a workable, yet attractive, fountain arrangement, junior Richard Larson and senior Mike Hendel add still another touch of reality by draping the makeshift series with moss.

Car Contests Herald Homecoming

Janet Nelson's "Donnette" tied for first place with Tim Dugan's "Hearse of Sadness" in the "decorate your car" contest. Cardboard, crepe paper, paint, and imagination form Janet's interpretation of a Donnette.

Mapping the way to the "Seven Cities of Cibola" was the Band and Orchestra Lettermen window, decorated at Homecoming. Lettermen were given top honors for their original mural.

Silhouetted against the Homecoming bonfire, cheerleader Mary Martin sets the pace for a pre-game pep rally. In the hours preceding the lighting, Dons frantically gathered wood in an inter-class competition, won by the seniors.

Linda, Keith

Weeks of wondering were climaxed as Homecoming crowns went to Linda Seeley and Keith Hoffmann. The royal robes were presented by last year's queen Karis Hoffmann and king attendant Dean Burleson, substituting for '63 king Roger Reinke.

Half-time ceremonies began with the marching of the band, Donettes, and majorettes. The Donettes twirled their hats with canes in their special Homecoming dance shown for the first time this season. Laura Sahlin lit up the field and stands with the light of her duel fire batons. Later, following the Dons' win over Casa Grande, 25-0, on October 30, King Keith and Queen Linda were honored by a semi-formal dance in the newly decorated cafeteria.

Drums roll and trumpets blare as Senior Laura Sahlin illuminates the field and stands with the glow from duel fire batons. Majorettes, Donettes, and band all took part in the pre-crowning ceremonies at half-time.

Keith Hoffmann, king, and Linda Seeley, queen, lead the procession of Homecoming royalty off the field. Regal carriages awaited the trio of couples for the ceremonial parade around the track.

Senior Jim Priest, as Francisco Vazquez de Coronado, and half-time crown bearers, Amy and Kelly Corder, watch from the sidelines, intrigued by field action during the Coronado-Casa Grande Homecoming game.

Take Royal Robes

Robyn Chapman, fullback and active participant in fine arts, and Sherry Booth, varsity cheerleader, are two of the honored Homecoming attendants.

Weeks of suspense ended when Linda Seeley, Donette, and Keith Hoffmann, quarterback, were crowned Homecoming Queen and King. Candidates chosen by the senior class were later voted on by the entire student body.

Carolyn Charest, a varsity cheerleader and former Donette, and Bob Swan, student body president, ride in the royal motorcade around the track.

Dons

Though duties as AASC treasurer kept him busy, senior Jay McCauley works with his committee on the seating arrangement for the auditorium. Convention members met in the auditorium for the morning sessions.

Senior Paul Blanc assembles the type necessary for printing tickets used in the 1964 AASC Convention. Paul has employed his printing press in numerous other campus projects.

Mike Smith, junior, works on painting roughly 100 school signs for the over 700 delegates expected to attend the convention. Mike's committee was responsible for all convention art work.

Hustle as Convention Nears

Last minute envelope-stuffing is hastened as Janet Stufflebean and other Dons work on an "assembly line." Into these envelopes went all the necessary information, pamphlets, tickets, and programs needed by convention members.

All's silent—and dark—and empty, as Coronado awaits the on rush of convention delegates. Plans and preparations, beginning in January 1964, were at an end, and the results would soon be noted.

The 1964 AASC Convention comes to life as delegates representing some 100 Arizona schools pour into Coronado's auditorium. Though the field of seat signs was confusing at first, the use of such signs proved invaluable.

Afternoon discussion groups, led by students from the different schools, explored such diverse and timely topics as the United Nations, the electoral college, school policies, and student council problems.

State Convention Highlights Council

Senior Bob Swan, AASC President, introduces keynoter Jesse Owens, famed Olympic star. Mr. Owens flew in from Chicago particularly to speak at the AASC convention.

"A Time For Action" was the theme for the 31st annual Arizona Association of Student Councils' convention, held December 4 and 5 at Coronado High School.

This year, Coronado's student body officers automatically became officers for the convention. They were Bob Swan, president; George Jett, vice-president; Andi Arthur, secretary; and Jay McCauley, treasurer.

The agenda for the two-day convention was high-lighted Friday by keynote speaker Jesse Owens, four gold medal winner in the '36 Olympics.

Discussion groups and special problem clinics preceded a formal banquet at the Phoenix Convention Center. Later, convention representatives attended "The Mikado" in the CHS auditorium.

At the Saturday morning session, delegates reported on conventions attended last summer, then cast their votes for Maryvale High School as the 1965 AASC convention site.

The Phoenix Convention Center—Star Theater became the scene of the Friday night banquet. In the foreground, Convention recorders take special note of speeches for permanent record of the Convention.

Year

Roll call of the schools requires intense concentration as AASC officers Jay McCauley, treasurer; Andi Arthur, secretary; and George Jett, vice-president, record the number of delegates, sponsors and AFS students representing each of the 100 Arizona schools.

A lively break in the day's proceedings is welcomed by delegates at the sock hop, sandwiched in between the morning session and the afternoon discussion groups.

Teachers,

From beginning to end, thrills, chills, and spills highlighted Coronado's first donkey basketball game, December 2. Opposing the faculty on the court, the juniors sponsored the game to raise funds for the Junior-Senior Prom.

To furnish pep and spirit, each team was supplied with a line of boy cheerleaders. The game was close, but in the final seconds, the faculty outplayed the juniors, edging them with a victory of 26-22. Representing the faculty, George Vemich accepted the winning trophy, a miniature donkey.

As Clarence Spong reaches vainly for the ball, junior Jack Bortz successfully manages to keep it out of his range. Although this was a setback to the faculty, it proved to be minor in their victory over the juniors.

Aiming the ball, junior Dennis Suchocki shoots a basket as classmate Ronnie Sims waits for a score raise of 2 points. Faculty member, Dennis Bailey ventures to block the shot.

Donkeys Execute Junior Dons

Donkeys can be stubborn! Juniors Mike Bedwell and Guy Smith fail to prove the statement false as they make the full stretch between donkey and ball.

Junior Mike Bedwell makes an unexpected dismount from his donkey, as opponent Dennis Bailey tries to lift him back up. Though competition was lively, even the donkeys displayed good sportsmanship.

The miniature donkey trophy, won by the faculty after their defeat of the juniors, 26-22, is accepted by George Vemich. Though he is chairman of the junior class, Mr. Vemich represented the faculty as recipient of the award.

Snowmen, one of the many trimmings around campus, decorate the library entrance. The designing and decorating of this project was done by the Library club.

Christmas Creates Colorful Quality

As the Christmas season comes to a close around Coronado, Sophomore Barry King drags away one of the trees used to decorate the cafeteria for the Christmas Prom.

Trail staffers Bon Taylor, Sally Richards, and Larry Cassady put the finishing touches on the Christmas tree, adding yuletide cheer to the journalism room.

On Campus; Climax Comes at Prom

"Walking in a winter wonderland!" The words may seem inappropriate for a town with little rain and no snow, but when the season comes for Christmas merriment, Coronado abounds with spirit. Trees, lights, and ornaments decorated many of the campus rooms, including the cafeteria.

Eugene Hanson, Robert Frazier, and Armand Iacono led the orchestra and chorus in a pre-Christmas selection of songs and hymns.

Criada and Los Hermanos put holiday activities in motion by caroling at many of the faculty members' homes. Yuletide spirit was displayed as Future Homemakers of America visited a rest home and carried out a gift exchange game entitled "secret angels".

The campus Christmas season came to a climax at the Christmas formal, sponsored by the band and orchestra lettermen and held in the cafeteria on December 19.

Dancing to the music of the Varsitymen, Larry Ford and Vivien Bailey spend a memorable evening at the Snowball Prom.

Pensively wondering whether the mean, old wolf will make another appearance, Little Red Riding Hood (Linda Lewis) pauses along the path to her grandmother's house.

"Oh, Mr. Wolf, take a quick peek—I'm trying to rush to Grandmother's house!" The proverbial tale of Little Red Riding Hood's encounter with the Wolf is dramatized by Linda Lewis and Bob Swierski.

"Little" Plays — New Phase

A unique twist to Coronado theater was initiated by "Winnie the Pooh's" debut in the Children's Variety Theater. Children from 2 to 82 enjoyed plays written, directed, and dramatized by students from Mr. Frazier's classes. The plays, based on familiar children's stories, included "Little Red Riding Hood" and "Jack in the Beanstalk".

A "major calamity" in "Winnie the Pooh" puts Christopher Robin (Clayton Marlowe) through uneasy concern, as Winnie (Terry Privateer) nonchalantly reposes on a nearby tree.

"Rebel" Tests Dons' Imagination

Directed by James Newcomer, Coronado's live production of the former screenplay, "Rebel Without A Cause," was an experiment; in truth, a "rebel" production. All scene changes and lights were visible and, because only the most basic of props were used, the imagination of the audience provided the settings. Set in the "near past", the events rocketing around juvenile delinquency portrayed a special message to the viewer, one that did not require physical properties for sustention.

"Nobody calls me chicken and gets away with it!" shouts the Rebel (Ken Howell), as he accepts Buzz (Dennis Farr's) dare.

To infuriate Officer Mullen (Ed Brackett), the Rebel (Ken Howell) loudly mimics the whine of a distant siren. Tensely waiting their chance to speak to the juvenile officer inside are Judy (Pat Cramton), Plato (Rich Larson), and Mrs. Davis (Phyllis Sanderson).

Extending across one wall in the faculty lounge, senior Susan Richards' 5' X 24' mural depicts the diversified culinary customs of cultures the world over. The February unveiling in the lounge terminated three and one-half months of steady planning and painting, both after school and during free periods.

New Creations, Traditions

Balancing precariously on a three-inch wide beam approximately three feet from the floor, sophomore Vicky Cooper forms the vertical splits as a member of Coronado's first girls' gymnastics team.

Dons, filing down an aisle in the campus auditorium, now tread an oft unnoticed addition to the 400 building. The carpet, laid during the first week of January, injects a more quiet and dignified note into the usually hectic display of shuffling, bustling, and talking inherent in any large gathering of students.

Blaze Coronado's Trail

Four years have elapsed since the first Dons enrolled at Coronado, and since that time new and different trails have been blazed in all areas.

This year, Dons formed their first girls' gymnastics team; carpeted, for the first time, the auditorium; and recognized entirely unexpected and original creative masterpieces.

Holding the singular honor of being the first four-year graduating class at Coronado, the 1965 seniors were also the first in initiating the tradition of senior privileges.

The dawn of a new tradition flares, as Donettes Barbara Pries and Karen Seppala initiate the annual "Senior Dance" at a February pep assembly.

Belles, Beaux Pace Theme

Carrying out a theme of "Gone with the Wind," Coronado Criada club members featured real southern-style hospitality at the fourth annual sweetheart prom, held January 30 at Hotel Westward Ho. The southern plantation appeared in the form of table flowers and wall shrubbery.

The evening was highlighted with crowning ceremonies as Principal Clyde Kidd presented the crown to senior Terri Burkland. Attending the queen were seniors Lani Parker and Bonnie Schwab, junior Linda Johnson, sophomore Kathy Patterson, and freshman Sandy Mundt.

After the crowning by Principal Clyde Kidd, senior Terri Burkland receives a bouquet of royal roses from the 1964 Criada Queen, Linda Motz. Terri's attendants are senior princesses, Bonnie Schwab and Lani Parker, and junior princess, Linda Johnson.

Clad in the apparel of a young plantation servant, freshman Barbara Curtis expresses southern-style hospitality while handing out programs to the "Gone with the Wind" Prom.

Week of anticipation climaxes with the announcement of Queen of Courts royalty. Escorted by Steve Bowen is cheerleader Mary Martin, attendant.

Awaiting the presentation of roses and carnations to Queen and attendants respectively, is varsity cheerleader Toni Selby, escorted by Bob Dunham.

Skirted Royalty Reign Supreme

Queen of Courts is held annually to recognize the girl with the best spirit, pep, and attendance at games throughout the year. Selected by the basketball team, candidates Sherry Booth, Mary Martin, and Toni Selby were then voted on by the student body.

At the February 12 half-time ceremonies, last year's queen, Susie Charest, presented a bouquet of roses to the newly crowned queen, Sherry Booth. To round out the evening, the sophomore class sponsored a celebration dance in the cafeteria. The valentine sweetheart theme was complete with a throne for the reigning queen.

After a solemn march between two lines of Donettes, the candidates for Queen of Courts are told who is to receive the title. Principal Clyde Kidd places the coveted crown on two-year varsity cheerleader Sherry Booth, as escort Pat Huston looks on.

Parada Pours; Dons Not Dampened

The three mile route through the rain-drenched streets of Scottsdale is covered by the Dons' band, marching for the fourth year as an integral part of the Parada.

Unexpected as they were, the forces driving rain in Scottsdale did not deter the dauntless Dons who joined in the eleventh annual Parada Del Sol, February. Drenched after two hours in the world's largest horse-drawn parade, Dons still maintained a persevering pace in the form of Donettes, band, majorettes, street cleaners and rodeo beauties. Those not actually in the Parada helped swell the side lines of enthusiastic onlookers.

Pioneer days return, as senior Judy Wacker lives up to the "West's Most Western Town" theme by riding her horse to the Dons' campus for the second consecutive year.

Sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce, Coronado's Howdy Dudettes are juniors Linda Lewis and Vicki Temple, and sophomore Kim Overton. Dudette duties consist of greeting visitors at conventions and airports, distributing Scottsdale pamphlets, and decorating a float for the Parada Del Sol.

Leading the Dons' band in the 1965 Parada Del Sol parade, senior cheerleaders Sherry Booth and Mary Martin carry the Coronado banner, exhibited for the first this year.

An avid composer of original poems, Jim Mason, a junior Don, is also interested in planning a vocation in accounting. Though homebound, Jim kept his grades above average.

A requirement of sixteen hours of rest daily compels Pat Mason to study as a homebound. A senior, she plans to graduate after taking summer courses.

Dons Challenged From Home

"Homebounds," Dons away from their second home, were not able to attend regular school classes, but managed to keep their grade averages high through tutored classes. As homebounds, Pat Mason, James Mason, and Craig Scoplitte were forced to study at home, without the benefit of planned and scheduled school hours.

A homebound, by definition, is a student missing three consecutive months of school. In order to graduate with his class, senior Craig Scoplitte is obligated to spend many study hours at home.

Flashes of scarlet, navy blue, and silver dazzle the eye as Donettes Barbara Pries, Marsha Shaffer, and Linda Seeley dance to the music of the band at a football assembly.

Pacing the music of the march, Pep Banders Carl Pratt, Becky Drizigacker, and Bonnie McMillen imbue the pep assembly with a sense of rhythmic balance.

Assemblies Arouse Action

"Go, Dons . . . Get 'em, Dons . . . Get 'em, Dons" was the cry of Coronado fans as their spirit rang through the gymnasium walls. Each major football and basketball game during the year was greeted by a pep assembly to arouse and unify school support for the athletic teams. Coronado's six cheerleaders and sixteen Dancing Donettes ignited the spark of spirit for the crowd. A different phase of teamwork was the Dons' pep band, present and playing for each assembly. Unique skits were given by Coronado students to provide an extra boost to the team's morale.

Performing a zany skit at one of the many pep assemblies, seniors Larry Martin and Jim Priest tried to sell Ken Howell a "Dave Rigg dog" for his little brother.

All Stars Orbit to 51-48 Win

The Coronado Complex All Stars challenged the Ladmo Jets in a game of basketball on the Dons' court February 17. Coronado's team was composed of faculty members and elementary school teachers. KPHO-TV comedians from the "It's Wallace" show and KDOT disc jockey Tony Evans made up the Ladmo Jets' team.

A pre-game show, featuring Hub Kapp and the Wheels, began at 7:00 while game action started at 7:30. Los Hermanos cheerleaders urged spirit from the side lines, while the "Dancing Donuts", a group of Lettermen club members, provided half-time entertainment.

Though competition was rough, the Coronado All Stars shot to a 51-48 victory over the Ladmo Jets.

A lurch for the ball brings a Ladmo Jet plummeting into All Star James Poplawski, elementary school teacher, as Dons' coach, Roy Coppinger, gets set to spring into action.

Hub Kapp, the versatile TV personality and recording artist, croons a popular lyric during the pre-game show. Alias Hub Kapp, Pat McMahon leads "The Wheels" in several numbers.

"One-two-three-GO!," a rousing cheer, compliments of Los Hermanos, draws crowd attention to the All Stars' cheerleaders. Later, the Lettermen formed a line of "Dancing Donuts" at half-time.

Dawn

As a new dawn breaks, the Coronado campus stirs with the refreshed action of returning Dons Judy Wacker, Pat Wald, and Tudy Kelley.

Each Don's day dawned early with an all-out scramble to school before the tard bell rang. Early morning traffic consisted of bikes, cars, motorcycles, and, of course, good old-fashioned shoe leather.

Once on campus, Dons became involved in a whirl of action revolving around studies, friends, clubs, and assemblies. The "day," however, did not automatically end with the last afternoon bell. After sunset on Coronado, dawn broke again and again for Dons in the guise of plays, games, and dances.

Intricate as it is, the make-up of a Don's day became even more complex and interesting through the varied activities held during the year.

Sophomore Jay Morris becomes more deeply interfused in the dreams of tomorrow while the long absence of yesterday's hopes lies in the past.

In the essence of creation Lynn Challoner inspires the structure of a more daring tomorrow. Using various forms of media, Dons unleash their inner-capability to define their unrelated person

Breaks on a Don's Day

High noon brings a sigh of relief from famished Dons as Gretchen Waller, Curt Hovland, and Jeff O'Donnell tier up one of the four lunch lines offering a diversified selection of food each day.

After the shadows fall, a blanket of night and a nippy air engulf Pat Cramton and Ken Howell during a pre-game lull.

At the end of a long hectic day, the Dons' campus lies in quiet repose, awaiting still another dawn. Just over the horizon, this day brings promises of a better and richer tomorrow.

Senior halfback Dennis McCready gallops to a first down against Chandler, Oct. 9. Neither team mounted a serious offense in the first half, but the Wolves scored two touchdowns in the second half to win 13-0.

of Ten Foes

After losing three of their first five games and scoring a total of 21 points in the contests, the 1964 varsity football team snapped out of their scoring slump and won four of their last five games. The 6-4 season was the best in Don history. Les Finger was backfield coach for the third straight year while Ron Wunderly and Ed Anderson completed their fourth years as line and head coaches, respectively.

Coach Anderson was awarded the Phoenix Press Box Association "Crying Towel" for the Dons 32-6 upset of arch-rival Arcadia on Oct. 23.

Rusty Chick smothers a Mesa halfback in the Nov. 6 contest in which the Dons clipped the Rabbits 14-13. It was victory number five for the varsity grid-ers.

Sure-footed quarterback Terry Brenner tries to dodge two Arcadia linemen in the Oct. 23 game. Brenner threw three TD passes to lead the Dons to a 32-6 rout of the Titans.

Fullback Robyn Chapman is caught in sequence as he skirts the end in the Casa Grande game, Oct. 31. Robyn, who was selected Player of the Week for his performance, led the Dons to a 25-0 whitewashing of the Cougars.

Dons Top Arcadia Titans, Mesa

Fumble! Terry Brenner is hit hard by three Scottsdale Beavers, causing the ball to slip from his grasp. The Beavers, ranked third in the state by United Press International, handed the Dons a 27-7 loss.

Jackrabbits for First Time

Steve Hopkins, senior end, snares a pass as he eludes a Yuma player in the season's opener, Sept. 18. The Yuma team downed the Dons 24-6.

Football Not One but a Combination

Water is the pause that refreshes interior linemen Paul Hanley and Steve Walker. Steve became the first varsity football player to win four letters in football.

Don football players Steve Walker (75), Tom Dahl (71), Dick McCombs (82), Dennis McCready (40), Mike Smith (directly across from McCombs), and Steve Hopkins (80) regroup forces during a hectic game.

The head-on clash between the two opposing lines sets a football play in motion. Offensively, the quarterback hopes to completely fool the defense.

It is the job of the defensive linemen to diagnose the play with help from any or all of the linebackers.

Backfield coach Les Finger explains the basics of the 327 reverse pass to line coach Ron Wunderly and head coach Ed Anderson. Such conferences are a hidden ingredient of the success or failure of a season.

During a varsity game, J.V. football coaches Theo Heap and George LeSatz serve as a second pair of eyes for the coaches on the ground. In addition to radioing information to a coach on the field, Heap and LeSatz take films of the games.

Tim Huston's father anxiously watches as his son is carried away in an ambulance to Mesa General Hospital. Tim, who sustained a ruptured appendix in the Westwood game, was feared to be lost for the balance of the season, but was back in uniform after missing only two games.

JV's Outplay

Guided by Theo Heap and George L. Satz, the J.V. football team compiled a record of six wins and two losses. With the exception of Scottsdale and Arcadia, the J.V.'s outplayed all their opponents; the pinnacle of which was the 46-26 conquest of the Casa Grande Cougars. The team also earned the distinction of being the first winning team in J.V. football at Coronado. Special recognition goes to halfback Steve Dir who led the junior varsity in scoring with twelve touchdowns.

The Westwood Warriors are Steve Dir's victims as he rips off a long gain in the Oct. 1 13-7 win. Dir, who was the J.V.'s most explosive back, starred against Casa Grande as he accounted for a quintet of TD's and a pair of extra points.

Ralph Long tries to clear a path for Gary Thompson against the Scottsdale Beavers on Nov. 4. Although the J.V. gridders tallied 21 points for their third highest total of the season, they lost the bruising battle to the Beavers who mounted 25 points.

Sixty-seven football minded freshmen got their first taste of competition on the high school level. The regular freshmen, piloted by Roy Coppinger and Jerry Menefee, split their eight game season. Harvey Plant and Herbert Sherman handled the pee wees, who lost but two of seven games. The difference between the two groups was that the regular frosh scaled in at over 128 pounds and the pee wees were those under 128.

Notch 13-5 Mark

Coach Theo Heap blended experience in youth as his varsity cagers notched a 13-5 record, good enough for a second place Division I tie. The Dons won a coin toss for second but instead chose third place for play-off purposes.

Heap's hoopsters started sluggishly, losing three of their first seven tussles. An invisible shot of adrenalin energized the team from its state of suspension as they won nine of their last eleven games, including a record 80 points against Chandler on Feb. 19.

Pat Huston and Jeff Mackey hijack a rebound from Mesa in the hotly-contested game of Feb. 5. The Jackrabbits dealt the Dons their fourth loss, 56-51.

Guard Terry Brenner is stymied in his efforts to rack up two points as a Tempe cager blocks the shot effectively. The mysterious jinx Tempe possesses over Coronado continued during the '64-65 court campaign as the Dons lost two to the Buffs.

A Yuma Criminal sinks a field goal despite the efforts of senior forward Pat Huston. Yuma ambushed the Dons 58-55 in Yuma Dec. 18, but the Dons gained revenge with a 66-49 triumph Jan. 18.

Don Cagers Start Sluggishly

The 64-65 court campaign commenced Dec. 11 for the Dons as they entertained the Westwood Warriors. A missed shot by reserve forward Dan Williams is rebounded by Craig Darrington. The Dons scalp the Warriors 66-53.

Guard Terry Brenner barely misses blocking a Scottsdale Beaver's shot in the Dec. 22 game. The frigid shooting Beavers fell 13 points behind at the end of the first quarter and never recovered as the Dons won, 54-38.

As Jeff Mackey, Dan Williams, and Pat Huston cover, Steve Bowen battles for possession of the ball with a Mesa player. Craig Darrington's last minute jumper gave the Dons a 51-50 victory.

Drop Three of First Seven Games

Dan Williams (11) snatches a rebound from teammate at Huston in the Jan. 12 clash with Mesa. Dan and [unclear], who scored 13 and 12 points respectively, led the Dons to a 51-50 triumph.

Arcadia's high-scoring guard Ron Barr is Dan Williams' victim as Williams buckets two points in the Jan. 9 contest. Coronado's Steve Bowen bottled up Barr, allowing the Dons to subsequently trounce the Titans 55-48.

Senior center Jeff Mackey clears the boards in the Jan. 8 game on Tempe's court. Tempe, led by Rich Daniel and Tim Varella, dumped the Dons for their third loss, 56-44.

Many Leaf Through the "Story"

Jeff Mackey, Dan Williams, and Terry Brenner watch the action with rapt attention. Dan and Terry served as substitutes while Jeff was the team's iron man.

Many things transcend before the eyes of a cager. He watches avidly and hopes fervently that his team will control the game. He looks to his coach for advice or for a play while simultaneously watching the moves of his man. He observes the influence of fresh players into the line-up, the change of the lead, and the strengths and weaknesses of his evening's assignment. Last and perhaps most important, he must be able to transform the raw data into useful game strategy. This, then, is the "Story of Basketball".

Disgust, exaltation, disappointment are only three of the multi-moods coach Theo Heap experiences as a game runs its course.

Coach Heap gives directions to his team during a timeout. The half-time intermission gave Coach Heap and the team the opportunity to put matters in retrospect and to plan second half strategy.

of Basketball"

The jump ball throws the switch which starts game action. Jeff Mackey (33) tries to tip the ball to either Dick McCombs (31) or Steve Bowen (21).

Team high-point man Jeff Mackey banks a fall-away jumper against Mesa. The performance of a team's big gun can determine the outcome of a game.

Dons Grab Third Place

"Almost, but not quite," is the phrase that would best summarize the Don fortune in the state basketball tournament. In the first game, played on Feb. 26, Coronado dumped Catalina 60-50 as Jeff Mackey led all scorers with 20 points. The Dons' next opponent, Scottsdale, put their championship into cold storage as the Dons romped to a 51-30 victory.

The Don bubble was punctured in the third round by North Phoenix. Although they trailed by a scant five points at halftime, the Dons were stymied in the second half and lost 66-51. The Dons gained some compensation for their loss as they fatal-ly wounded Camelback 62-51 for third place.

Dan Williams, Jeff Mackey, and Dick McCombs fight for a rebound in the Catalina game. Paced by Jeff's 20 points, Dan's 17, and Pat's 13, the Dons outdistanced the Trojans 60-50.

While Mustang Wirt Twitchell and Don Craig Darrington watch warily, Coronado's Dick McCombs tries a shot in the North conflict. North bumped the Dons out of state contention as they won 66-51.

Craig, Jeff Voted All-Tourney

Second round action finds Don cager Steve Bowen shooting over the outstretched arm of Scottsdale's Jim Haden. The Dons pummeled the Beavers, 52-30, to advance to the third round.

Senior forward Pat Huston shoots unsuccessfully in the consolation game with Camelback. Craig Darrington, by sinking 23 points, led the Dons to a 62-51 blasting of the Spartans.

Craig Darrington, who was chosen for the All-Tourney second team, congratulates Jeff Mackey, who was picked for the first team. The announcement of the teams followed the conclusion of the championship game between North and Rincon.

J. V. Cagers Link Speed, Hustle

Joe Mackey gets off a deadly jumper in the Tempe conflict of Feb. 12. Joe began the season as a member of the freshman "A" team, was subsequently elevated to the junior varsity, and spent the last three games on the varsity squad.

J.V. hoopster Sam Reynolds nets two points against Chandler Jan. 29. The Dons creamed the Wolves 75-34 and 64-40 on Jan. 29 and Feb. 19, respectively.

Speed plus hustle yield a good basketball team. Catalyze this reaction with good coaching and the result is an ever better team. The '64-65 J.V.'s utilized this formula and carved out a 13-5 slate. This year's junior varsity was instructed by George LeSatz.

The J.V.'s incurred losses in both Scottsdale games and split battles with Tempe Westwood and Mesa. In the latter part of the campaign, the team acquired an unexpected scoring punch in the person of freshman Joe Mackey.

'A' Courtmen Win 11 Tussles

After pooling their records, the freshman basketball teams had a composite 19-7 slate. Jerry Menefee's "B's" were lackluster against most teams but they ran wild against Chandler. Their final tally was 8-4. The loss of Joe Mackey was thought to be detrimental to "A" aspirants but still Roy Coppinger's "A" squad managed to whip 11 of 14 opponents.

"B" courtman Larry Mathews shoots unsuccessfully in the Feb. 17 clash with Tempe. The "B's" won the game by seven points, 39-32.

Gary Doran makes a full effort to score a bucket in the 'A' game with Tempe, Feb. 12. The team ran their record to 9-3 after winning 47-35.

Two year mat veteran Robyn Chapman displays his mat know-how in the Jan. 2 20-18 loss to Mesa. Robyn took first place in the Division I meet held at Westwood on Feb. 12-13.

An Arcadia wrestler tries vainly to depose Mike Smith of Coronado. Although Mike pinned his man to add five points to the team score, the Dons absorbed their ninth defeat in the Feb. 2 affair.

Mat Tourney

Although they put up a valiant effort throughout the entire season, the Ron Wun-erly coached wrestlers dropped all nine of their meets. The closest the varsity matmen came to scoring a victory was in the Mesa meet. Having an unusually difficult time were the grapplers who weighed less than 133 pounds. A general lack of mat experience hampered these boys as they won but even matches all season.

The Dons finished second in the division meet and Benny Viseur, Tom Dahl, Mike Smith, Robyn Chapman and Paul Hanley qualified for the state meet.

Paul Hanley, who wrestled in the 138 pound class, is caught in an unexpected position by his Cortez counterpart in the Dec. 8 meet. The Colts bombed the Dons 33-11.

J. V. Wrestlers Spin, Sputter

The J.V. grapplers, under the tutorage of Robert McCaffrie, spun and sputtered throughout the '64-65 campaign as they gleaned but two wins in their seven match schedule. After losing their opener to Yuma, the J.V.'s topped Cortez. A three game losing streak was squelched after a victory over Tempe; their season was ended with a narrow loss to Arcadia.

J.V. grappler Sal Uriarte emulates an Arcadia wrestler in the Feb. 2 home meet. The junior varsity wrestlers absorbed their fifth loss, 26-22.

Love, lob, add-in, add-out, are familiar terms to tennis buffs. First to gain "tennis fever" were the freshmen. Joe Duarte and Marilyn Goldman, who also doubled as varsity coaches instructed the tyros. The "fever" struck again in January as the varsity season began. At press time, the varsity girls stood at two-four while the varsity boys were winless in seven starts.

32 Bid for Swim Berths

Thirty-two candidates sought to earn a berth on the '65 swimming team as practice commenced on Feb. 8. Coach John Anderson felt that Steve Bennett, junior, and Dave Colkett, senior, would backbone the team. The former finished high in diving in the '64 state meet while the latter was the best sprint swimmer on the team. Coronado competed against Westwood, Yuma, Brophy, Arcadia, West Phoenix, Kofu, Mesa, and Scottsdale. All home meets were held at the Scottsdale city pool.

Duffers Battle Faculty Sextet

The '65 golf season commenced March for this year's golf team. Their first opponents were faculty members Mike Dant, golf coach, William Kelley, Herbert Sherman, Glenn Irvin, E. L. Hanson, and Thomas Boulet. Results were not available at press time.

The duffers were scheduled to compete against Arcadia, Scottsdale, Yuma, Kofa, Tempe, Chandler, Westwood, Casa Grande and Mesa.

Gym Squad

With a new coach and four returning lettermen, the Don gymnastic team sought to duplicate their '64 state championship. Harvey Plant, who was the gymnastic coach at Phoenix Union, became head mentor for the '65 year. Leading the returnees was Darryl Bair, second in all-around competition in the '64 state meet. Joining him were Rich Stovall and Bill Pilgrim who were in the upper ten in tumbling. Trampoline enthusiast John Segar completed the quartet.

As part of his routine, Rich Stovall does a suicide on the trampoline. Rich and Bill Pilgrim were the two top Dons competing on the trampoline.

Ralph Weiss, junior, performs a scissors on the side horse in an after-school practice. Ralph, who was a member of the team as a freshman, returned to gymnastics after a year's absence.

A handstand on the parallel bars is a favorite maneuver for senior Bill Pilgrim. Bill, along with Rich Stovall and Darryl Bair, became the first four-year lettermen in gymnastics at Coronado.

Rings, Bars Probe Physical Strength

Varsity gymnast Jerry Menaquale makes skillful use of the rings as he does an "L" iron cross. The type of trick and amount of movement of the rings were the primary factors judges employed in determining a contestant's score.

Coached by Juana Frederick, the girls gymnastic team became a feature on the Coronado sports scene during 1965. The 14 member squad gave mostly exhibitions as they were not a formally recognized team.

The girls vied in balance beam, vault, floor exercise, tumbling and trampoline.

Train Varsity Thinclads

The single head coach idea was abandoned by this year's trio of track coaches. There were three "head" coaches under the new set-up. Clarence Spong taught varsity hurdlers and J.V. and frosh pole vaulters, high jumpers and broad jumpers. Coaching long-distance runners and weightmen was the task of Gerald Wood. Besides handling the sprinters, Les Finger instructed the varsity high jumpers, pole vaulters and broad jumpers.

HONORS

TRAIL Honors Outstanding Students

A difficult decision for Dons came on February 4 and 5. Students holding yearbook receipts were asked to honor the most deserving senior boy and girl by electing them Mr. and Miss Trail.

Candidates for the honor were chosen by a committee consisting of Mrs. Evelyn Skeskey, senior sponsor, William Kelley, assistant principal and Fred Berry, TRAIL Honors section editor. The six seniors—Andi Arthur, Lani Parker, Laura Sahlin, George Jett, Lorin Shelley and Bob Swan were selected on the basis of scholarship, leadership and service.

Names of the royalty were withheld until a special ceremony in May when it was revealed that Lani Parker and Lorin Shelley were to reign as Mr. and Miss Trail for 1965.

Homecoming Crowns Football Season

The essence of "The Seven Cities of Cibola" was in the air as Keith Hoffman and Linda Seeley were crowned Coronado's 1965 Homecoming king and queen. Crowning ceremonies for Queen Linda and King Keith took place during the halftime of the October 30 football game. Attending Linda and Keith were Sherry Booth, Carolyn Charest, Robyn Chapman and Bob Swan.

On October 14, the six seniors were nominated by the class of '65; the final vote was then put before the student body on October 19 and 20.

Court Queen

"Gone With the Wind" set the mood at the crowning of 1965 Criada Queen Terrie Arkland on January 30 at the Westward Hotel in Phoenix. Honored as princesses were Lani Parker and Bonnie Shwab, seniors, Linda Johnson, junior, Cathy Patterson, sophomore and Sandy Sundt, freshman.

Dons in each of the underclasses chose the princess for their court. Senior Dons nominated two girls and the Criada Club entered one to vie for the crown. The student body then voted to select a queen from these three.

For Coronado's 1965 basketball season, Merry Booth was crowned Queen of Courts. Attendants to the queen were Mary Martin and Toni Selby.

After the Tempe game on February 12, a dance honoring the queen and her court was held in the cafeteria.

Pave Paths for Awards

Speakers at the 1965 graduation ceremonies were chosen from the top 5% of the senior class, who attained this rank through their scholastic accomplishments.

Six Coronado seniors rank scholastically among the upper 1/2% of the nation, according to the standards set by the National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Tests. As a result of the second College Board exams, these six seniors became finalists and were eligible for the Merit Final, which determined the scholarship winners.

As graduation approached, many senior sons were awarded scholarships to Arizona and out of state colleges. These scholarships were awarded on the basis of academic achievement, financial need and ACT and SAT scores.

MERIT FINALISTS . . . Rich Seyffer, Richard Pomis, Lee Coopridier, Jay McCauley, Robert Phillips. Maureen Arrigo, senior, was also named a Merit finalist.

Visiting the Phoenix Star Theater, a "theater in the round," are All State orchestra members Vicki Sanders, Paul Kreiling, and Jane Hurn.

Drummer Paul Kreiling sees a European tour in the near future, for he will tour that continent with the School Band of America.

Musical Dons

Fourteen Dons earned the honor of being members in either the All State band orchestra or chorus, and seven were members of the Phoenix Youth Symphony. These highly coveted honors require a wide scope of musicianship and dedication.

Paul Kreiling, a senior percussionist, was chosen to play with the School Band of America in Europe. He is one of the ninety-eight members from the United States.

From the eleven senior girls selected by the government teachers, Andi Arthur was presented the DAR award by a vote from the senior class and faculty honors committee.

Bob Swan was chosen from over 200 students in Arizona to go to Washington, D. C. through the Youth Senate Program to see our government in action.

Delegates to the NCCJ, Greg Lowe, Karen Lewis, Kathy Smith and John Perner, learned about the religion represented by the Mormon Temple in Mesa, as well as many other religions in the United States.

Roles in Students' Lives

Delegates to Girls' and Boys' State from Coronado are Lee Coopridger, Cherrie Anderson, Doug Momary, George Jett, Andi Arthur, and Bob Swan.

Andi Arthur, DAR award winner, is framed by a statue representative of another era of struggle, the taming of the Old West.

Winner in the Youth Senate Program, Bob Swan stands near the home of Arizona's law-making body.

Jeff, Rhonda Capture Honors

Phoenix Country Club offers an athletic atmosphere that well suits Jeff Mackey who was named a "top" high school basketball player.

Jeff Mackey was named one of the top 300 basketball players in the nation by the Press Box Basketball magazine on basis of performance in the field of basketball.

Coronado's 1965 Betty Crocker Homecoming Queen award went to Rhonda Rosen. Scoring highest in a written homemaking examination taken by senior girls, Rhonda became eligible to compete for state and national honors.

Rhonda Rosen, Coronado's Betty Crocker of Tomorrow visits Joe Hunt's Restaurant, a spot noted for tasty food.

Carolyn Searfoss and Bill Hardy, Mr. and Miss YSA, observe the scientific Arizona Public Service plant.

YSA, DECA Choose Royalty

Bill Hardy and Carolyn Searfoss were elected Mr. and Miss Young Scientists of America for 1965. The completion of two years of math and science, a grade of two or better in each, and membership in YSA were eligibility requirements for the honor. The final choice was made by a member vote.

The title of DECA Sweetheart was awarded to Claire Kennedy on the basis of personality, appearance and knowledge of merchandising. She competed at the State Convention to represent the state at the National Convention in Chicago.

The new Financial Center complex in Phoenix typifies the future career of Claire Kennedy, DECA Sweetheart.

The association of Dons in a jointly supported purpose creates a channel of direction for the initiating of student activities. A coordination with proper balance of leader guidance and member participation forms the Don's . . .

Coronado Government for Dons

Maintaining a well-paced and active school year was the over-all responsibility of the student council. The leadership and capability of these Dons helped them perform many successful events. The molding and polishing of the Arizona State Student Council Convention, gave Coronado that extra shine while in the limelight of many visitors. Another of the council's foremost activities was the fourth annual Homecoming and related festivities.

Student Government

The inner branches of student council are maintained under the headings of the special activities, welcoming, publicity and foreign exchange committees. Elections are the sole concern of Rich Seyffer and his election committee. The homecoming activities were spearheaded by Diane DeLuino who is head of the activities. Publicity was carried out by Mary Hauprich and the welcoming committee served to make all new Dons have a sense of belonging on our campus. The foreign exchange committee founded plans for an exchange student in the future.

Mu Alpha Theta, a National High School and Junior College Honorary Mathematics club, stimulated a deeper and more effective interest in mathematics among its members. Clarence Spong and other guest speakers spoke on various topics such as four dimensional geometry.

Current events and political and philosophical views were the concern of the Student Forum members. Student Forum took a public opinion poll before the presidential election, sponsored delegates to the Arizona model United Nations General Assembly, and presented speakers Bill Lowe, Sally and Susan Richards, Bill Sage and John Tait to speak on various forms of government.

Top Minds Enter NHS, Quill and Scroll

Membership in the National Honor Society is extended to those Dons who meet the specified academic qualifications. Aiming at the development of a whole person is one of the standards these Dons worked to uphold. During this year the NHS members sponsored the sale of sweatshirts and were in charge of the class of 65's graduation ceremonies. During this year the wearing of National Honor Society emblems were displayed on letter sweaters for the first time at Coronado.

Members of Quill and Scroll strive to instill the ideals of scholarship and to advance their knowledge in the field of journalism. Quill and Scroll membership is open to juniors and seniors on the upper one-third of their class and who have done superior work in the field of journalism—either on the TRAIL staff or the EXPLORER staff.

DECA Programs Youth Employment

DECA is a co-curricular activity of the Distributive Education program. The 20 Dons in the D.E. program were provided with the opportunity to gain a vast scope of occupation understanding under the advisement of Mr. Herbert Sherman. DECA members participated in the Arizona State Delegate Assembly, the State Leadership Conference, and the Annual Employee-employer banquet.

Between work hours and school hours, the members of DECA busily paint windows for Homecoming. Regina Herman, Bev Joslin, Cheri Beall, Denise Mathews, Jeannette De Rohwers, Peggy Nelson and Jeff Austin work to design and paint the window.

Thespians Mold Sets for Histrionics

The 31 members of the National Thespians Society devoted large amounts of time, effort, energy, and talent in achieving another successful year in the field of drama. Under the sponsorship of James Newcomer, the Thespians worked toward the mastery of their art. As a fund raising project the group sold concessions at the Arcadia-Coronado football game.

Putting finishing touches on muslin trees is old stuff for senior Thespians Janet Ayres and Andi Arthur. National Thespians work on all sets and stage preparations for the fine arts productions.

Language Clubs

The Foreign Language Association remained unified under one organization during the '64-'65 school year. Under the heading though, it separated into four branches—French club, German club, Latin club and Spanish club. The purpose of these groups was to keep their language alive at Coronado and to further the knowledge of their language. Among the activities were guest speakers, films, the celebration of Foreign Language Week and participation in Roman Week.

Covering beats, writing and rewriting stories were two seemingly never-ending tasks of the EXPLORER staff. Two features, one a returnee and the other new, highlighted the pages. After a two-year absence, a car column reappeared on the sports page. Winner of the featured "eye" contest earned a free ticket to a sporting event.

From the beginning of September to the end of February the TRAIL staff recorded the events of the '64-'65 year. For reader interest, class and faculty sections were moved to the back of the book. To house the growing amount of content, the book increased in size from  $7\frac{3}{4}$ " x  $10\frac{1}{2}$ " to 9" x 12".

"Screening" posters for the theatre arts production of "Little Red Riding Hood" are Poster club member Cindy Osborne, Laurie Kendrick, and Vern Haupt.

The Coronado Speech club provided an excellent opportunity for Dons interested in the field of public speaking. By entering speech tournaments around the state, initiating Coronado's First Annual Speech festival and providing a Christmas program at the Crippled Children's Hospital, they maintained a busy pace.

FUTURE BUSINESS LEADERS . . . Eric Lane, Richard Loomis, Mrs. Matwijkow, sponsor, John Kline, Nancy Loomis, Kay Meathers, Alan Schlosser, Suzie Roberts, Margaret Latterman.

The purpose of the Future Teachers of America is to interest high school students in the teaching profession by giving professional information to members. The club attended the State FTA Convention March 19 and 20 in Tucson, recognized April as "Career in Teaching" month, and presented an FTA scholarship to a deserving member. Mrs. Lynette Knight, social studies teacher, acted as sponsor.

To further their understanding in the interests of better business, the Future Business Leaders of America engaged in related activities. Foremost was the competition among the members in the Salt River Project's Computer Operated Business Simulation game.

E. R. Gyurko, head of the business department, served as club sponsor.

Life Work

United by a common interest in the medical field, FMS planned many beneficial activities. A tour of Good Samaritan Hospital gave members first hand knowledge of the problems of hospital administration. At the end of the year, the Future Medical Students awarded a scholarship to a worthy member.

Collectors, Roadrunners Dawn in '65

Newly formed this year, the Coronado Roadrunners club gave members the chance to develop themselves physically through hard running. Almost daily the boys ran a predetermined course of three to ten miles in the Scottsdale area. For boys going out for track later in the year this club was highly beneficial in conditioning.

The Coronado Collectors' club, organized for the first time this year, joined together interested Dons in the active advancement of stamp and coin collecting. Throughout the year, members sold, exchanged and discussed their various collections.

Rifles, Books Arm Dons in Wisdom

To promote a greater interest among students in the use of books and the library is the main goal of the Library club. To achieve a greater understanding with parents, the members presented a program of open house explaining the service of the library. The club also maintained the attractive displays in the foyer of the library.

The main concern of these 28 musical Dons was the presentation of the annual Christmas Prom. This year's theme, "Snowball," was carried out in a brightly decorated wonderland of enjoyment. Membership in Band and Orchestra Lettermen is attainable only when the specified number of points are acquired by a member of either the Dons' Band or Concert Orchestra.

The 12 Choral Lettermen, under the advisement of Robert Frazier, worked toward generating their enthusiasm to the student body through their work. In addition to creative achievements, they sold "Bucks for Banners", a campaign to provide American flags for all Coronado's classrooms.

Together

To further the high ideals of good sportsmanship was the goal set up by the Athletic Lettermen's Club. Membership is open to all athletes who have received a varsity letter in any sport and wish to join the club. Included in the club's activities is the maintaining of the "Don's" planter.

Amicae, L. H.

Taking tickets, handing out programs, and ushering patrons to their seats are the duties attended to by Amicae member at plays and concerts. Debbie Gibbs accepts a ticket from a patron at one of the productions.

The ushering for all of Coronado's fine arts productions was the duty of Amicae club. Smarting bright red tailored suits, white blouses, and black heels, these girls acted as hostesses for all Coronado activities presented in the auditorium. Amicae also ushered at open house at the State Student Council Convention.

The 64-65 school year activities of Los Hermanos spelled, "ACTION". These boys, sponsored by Bruce Ingimire, worked toward the preservation of Coronado's beauty by having a year-round clean-up campaign. Wearing their navy blue shirts and LH jackets, they ushered at football and basketball games, sponsored the 3rd annual Homecoming card section, guarded the seal in the foyer of the auditorium, worked at the State Student Council Convention, and held a dance to raise funds.

Ushering at all home football and basketball games was the major project of Los Hermanos. Larry Forsythe, and many of his fellow LH'ers spent their game time supervising the stands.

Lide Kvinda Lends Aid to Girls Club

Lide Kvinda Beta, composed of 30 junior girls, worked toward serving their school and community. In carrying out these goals, the club guided the Frosh on Freshman Orientation Day, did volunteer work at the Girl's Club, assisted in the Arizona State Student Council convention, and painted a window for Homecoming. In doing so, Lida Kvinda Beta helped uphold the high standards of serving Coronado and the community.

Placing pins in pep cards is a tedious task for Vicki Huber, Miss Nancy John, and Barbara Karls, but selling "Dons Bash the Buffs" cards before the Tempe football game earned money for Lida Kvinda Beta's Jr.-Sr. Prom donation.

Beverly Lucas carries out the service initiated by Alpha Omega this year in giving Glenn Irvin III a flower on his birthday. All teachers were wished birthday greetings with a flower on their birthdays from Alpha Omega.

Service to all students and faculty members was the main purpose of Alpha Omega. Assisting the librarians after school by shelving books and filing cards, was one of their main projects. Each morning they raised the flag in the mall.

This year navy blue and white uniforms added a new touch of character to the club.

'65 Marks Frosh Debut in Pep Club

With membership previously open to girls above ninth grade, Pep Club instituted a new tradition this year by also admitting interested freshman girls, in addition to regular members.

Wearing bright scarlet, navy blue, and white outfits at every game, members were a major force in producing pep and helping support the team. Participation in the "card section" and free distribution of pep cards and pep ribbons highlighted the year's history.

Receiving a Pep Club pin from President Sandy Bowe is senior Jane Forsburg. Looking on is Cindy Richters who also received a membership pin.

GAA Goals High

Setting its goal high, the Girls' Athletic Association scored its mark at Coronado. A new club on campus, it was organized this year to promote a better extracurricular athletic program for interested girls.

Club members participated in volleyball games among themselves, against the Coronado Los Hermanos club, and later in inter-school competition at Agua Fria. For several weeks, senior girls competed in archery. February brought basketball competition between Coronado, Scottsdale, and Arcadia GAA.

Jumping for the tip-off, active GAA members limber up during a practice session for the Arcadia-Coronado-Scottsdale basketball competitions.

Because smooth routines at games and pep assemblies call for long hours of practice, J.V. cheerleaders Bonnie Martin and Mary Lou May perfect "spread jumps." Junior Varsity cheerleaders rallied fans at all J.V. games and meets.

J.V.'s, Chieftans of Cheer

Boosting the junior varsity teams up the steep ladder to victory, the J.V. cheerleaders worked feverishly to perfect their own performances at games throughout the year. Long hours of practice, both after school and during a special cheerleaders' period in the school day, trained these six sophomore girls in the ropes of cheerleading.

Terrie Burkland, Linda Hulewicz, Gretchen Bergmann, Linda Seeley, Karen Battenfield.

Under the direction of Mrs. Deborah Corder, the 16 Dancing Donettes spend many hours of work in designing effective colorful dances. Donning navy blue, scarlet, and white uniforms, these girls add that extra zing to pep assemblies and football and basketball games throughout the year.

Mixing the old tradition of twirling capes in tune with our Fight Song and with the new addition of spinning hats on picado lances, the Donettes danced their way through their fourth year at Coronado.

Adding the Spanish spice to pep assemblies, the Dancing Donettes step out their lively routines. Continually adding to and revising their dances brought a new face to the Donette line.

Color Campus

Igniting of the Dons and the Don supporters was left to the fire of Coronado's spirit sparkers. During the 1964-65 season, these girls worked under the direction of Mrs. Deborah Corder. Outfitted in dark blue, jumper-like uniforms with white laced blouses, the varsity cheerleaders boosted the spirit, pep and steam of the Coronado student body.

Reaching the top isn't always an easy task; it takes time, work, and patience.

Ensemble: Melody Makers

Providing Dons with the sounds of music in various assemblies and concerts was the project of the hard working choral groups.

Choralairs added Yuletide spirit to the Christmas season by singing at Coronado, Park Central, and KOY radio station.

Ensemble, made up of the top 24 members of Choralairs, worked through the year to create new and different numbers for concerts.

Cantadoras, consisting of sophomore, junior and senior girls, was under the direction of Armand Iacano. The girls introduced bright new dresses to color up their concerts.

J.V. Band, Outlet for Rhythm

Highlighting the Coronado musical season were several concerts performed by the junior varsity band. Conducted by Armand Iacono, the J.V. band also boosts school spirit by playing at the J.V. football games. For interested students, the band provides necessary training for the District Band.

J.V. ## From Dons' Music Den

Coronado's Dons' Band mastered the art of precision in their musical endeavors throughout the year. They proudly displayed their marching ability during pregame and half-time performances on the football field, and during the Parada del Sol. Their spring agenda included numerous concerts.

Dance Band was composed of members of Dons' Band selected by E. L. Hanson. They served the school by playing at assemblies, and open house.

Concert Orchestra added to Dons' musical interests by presenting three concerts during the 1964-1965 year.

Checking appointments are Mrs. Sherry Preston, department head and Mrs. Marion Pfiefer, secretary for guidance. Students are called in regularly to discuss future plans.

Guidance counselors assist students with educational, vocational, and social adjustment and development. College night, September 24, was designed by the guidance department to present college information to the parents of seniors.

Separate assemblies were held for all classes to help with individual class problems.

New to the guidance department, is Mr. John Anderson, formerly a teacher in our science department.

Counselors Point Dons to Future

John Anderson, counselor, discusses vocational interests and colleges with senior Tom Swanson.

Politics — '64

Fire Dons

Studying human relationships of the past (history) and of the present (government and economics) brings the constructive, critical thought necessary for future living. For government and American history classes, the 1964 Presidential election provided first-hand information on the working of political parties and campaigns. Becoming involved in the parties of their choice through serious classroom debates and work at party headquarters and polls, many interested students eagerly awaited the November election returns.

Safety Education, a graduation requirement in Arizona, offers students invaluable instruction in driver's training, first aid, and health.

Jay Cleckner, social studies teacher, employs a World-Relations Climate Map to show the locations of permanent highs and lows to his fifth period geography class. Slides and personal experience lectures supplement text study.

In a pre-election debate in Mr. Ingmire's first period class, Ken Howell supports incumbent Lyndon Johnson. Defending the conservative position of Mr. Goldwater are Mike Arlia, John Cobb, and Jean Frankel.

Linda Schilling, Debbie Butler, and Bill Steele examine automobile parts. Intensive study of the automobile motor and how it functions plus an emphasis on road safety make up the one semester Safety Education course.

Dons Rocket Thru Cycles of Science

Filtering two different chemicals from a mixture, Diane Tingley junior, and sophomores Laura Berry and Barbara Curry experiment during Mr. Bailey's first period chemistry class.

Milton Allen and Dot Derohwer, work with a geiger counter to determine the radioactivity of the thyroid gland of a rat.

Fritz Blunt, a freshman in Mr. Bricker's accelerated sixth period biology class, uses a microscope to examine algae, which is one of the first class projects of the year.

Gale Nash, math teacher, utilizes the opaque projector to show students complicated equations. Such visual equipment also explains and illustrates basic math principles.

Trend Met — Math “Why” Explained

To meet the trend toward modern mathematics, Algebra I (Modern) has been added to the curriculum. It is a further step in coordinating the elementary and secondary programs and explains the “why” of mathematics.

The mathematics curriculum of geometry, algebra, and math has been revised to better satisfy the needs of the non-college bound student as well as those of students planning to attend college.

Welcomed as new teachers were Mr. Alan Moore and Mr. Leo Shaughnessey.

Pondering over a geometry problem, junior John Bradshaw thinks his way to the solution. John is a student in Mr. Shaughnessey's fourth period class.

Modern Methods Improve English

Steve Hudson, aided by Mrs. Piercey, uses a cycle-teacher in programmed learning, while Greg Gentry takes a wheel from the file. Programmed learning, part of a freshman English course, allows students to progress at their own speed and know the right or wrong of answers.

Language Stressed for Future

Wider use of audio-visual aids has greatly improved the foreign language department. For the second year, the language lab has moved to be the modern learning technique, whereby students pick up correct pronunciation and rapidity in speaking.

Understanding of other countries and cultures through communication is the primary goal. By realizing how important language is in relation to other knowledge, students themselves make discoveries which produce a deeper awareness of the world around them.

Newly instituted this year was the completely separate Spanish IV class, allowing Spanish III and Spanish IV students more individualized and directed instruction.

New teachers this year are John Paul Jones, Latin, and Miss Amaya Salcido and Miss Betty Lu Smith, Spanish.

Latin class comes alive for students as Rick Gaskins, sophomore, fashions a makeshift toga on Steve Knudsen, sophomore. Both are students in Mr. Jones' sixth period class.

Dancing Spanish IV students, Vic Jimenez and Georgene Samalik demonstrate the Zorongo. Jim Priest plays the guitar accompaniment.

Business Basics Build Proficiency

Training in improved business techniques and in the use of modern office machines furnishes students with a general foundation in business and a workable knowledge to pursue a career in the area.

Besides preparation for actual work, students acquire sufficient background and responsibility to meet the demands of society and homelife.

Teaching for the first time this year, Mr. Herbert Sherman is a welcome addition to the business department.

Larry Carity, junior, takes a timed writing test in Mr. Joyce MacDonald's first period class. Larry is a second year typing student.

All Distributive Education students are members of the DECA Club. Instructor Herbert Sherman discusses the club finances with students Bill Malenfant, Dennis Reinker, Lee Dapper, Mickey Calvert, and Ron Browning.

Eugene Gyurko, business teacher, gives Sandy Taylor directions on the posting machine. This machine is used to record payroll figures.

performing a self-composed modern dance in freshman P.E. Ellen Neeley, Vicki Tallman and Judy Brown. All are students in Mrs. Corder's fifth period class.

In physical education, students develop interest in physical fitness. "Interest is a step forward in correcting the physical incapacities of today's youth," explained department head, Mr. Theo Heap. Physical education is an important step in the development of an individual." New teachers in the department were Mr. Harry Plant and Mrs. Marilyn Goldman.

Fitness Interest Created by P.E.

Leaping high for the ball, Jerry Menaquale is surrounded by fellow team-mates Don Ziemba, Andrew Smith, William Brumley, David Rawsthorne, Christian Obrock. All are P.E. students in Coach Menefee's class.

Merritt Osborn, junior, displays his experience at woodworking by using a lathe to fashion a three-tiered Lazy Susan. Merritt was a student in Mr. Anderson's first period Woodworking II class.

Industrial Arts Demand Dexterity

The industrial arts department is designed to teach students skills and knowledge not received in the classroom. Skills learned here may help students, who cannot attend college, to obtain better jobs. Industrial arts also helps students develop interest toward work and craftsmanship.

Bruce Voth, a senior in Mr. Wunderly's first period class, puts into practice his drafting skills. A combination of texts and instruments are basic to drafting classes.

Home-Ec. Base for Family Life

The valuable instruction received by girls in home-economics contributes immensely to their general education through guidance, problem solving, and decision-making in the area of family living.

Girls learn the basic fundamentals of sewing and cooking in Home-Ec. I and then specialize in either cooking, dressmaking, or tailoring in Home-Ec. II, III, and IV, respectively.

In relation to diets, students conducted experiments on rats to determine the animals' reactions to a well-balanced versus a typical teenage diet. As was expected, the rats fed the protein-deficient food commonly consumed by teenagers displayed a lack of energy and weight loss.

Making a simple molded salad out of unflavored gelatin is Debbie Morman, freshman. Debbie is a student in Mrs. Landes' first period Home-Ec. I class.

Washing dishes after a cooking project is Beth Morrow, freshman in Miss John's fifth period class. Home-Ec. students learn the essentials of basic cooking, sewing, and child care.

Making a daily check on rats used in a home-economics experiment was the job assigned to Pam Logan, senior. The experiment concerned proteins and nutrients in foods.

Fine Arts

Combining a vivid imagination with rare artistic talent, senior, Susan Richards, an Art II student, puts the finishing touches on one of the figures in her mural on the culinary customs around the world. The mural is in the faculty lounge.

Mr. Gatti explains the finer points of art to Jerry Redding. Jerry, a sophomore and an Art II student, has done many of the fine paintings displayed on campus.

During Mr. Newcomer's theater arts class, Mike Wisted pantomimes the driver of a busload of people, who are: Larry Hughes, Karen Pucci, Colleen Cranmer, Sharon Warner, Barbara McCombs, Merrilee Mangnall, and Sandra Hayes.

Enriches Curriculum

Students, both as individuals and as groups, develop self-expression in the areas of music, drama, art, and crafts provided by the Fine Arts department.

As the student progresses from year to year, his experience in fine arts moves from mere appreciation to actual activity in this field. Indications of such progress are "The Mad Woman of Chaillot" and "The Mikado," several orchestral and choral concerts, and various art projects, including, in the faculty lounge, a comprehensive mural on eating habits around the world.

Welcome additions to this department are arts and crafts teachers Mrs. Lynn Harris and William Trott. Music composition and advanced choral ensemble were offered for the first time this year.

Rehearsing for "Winnie the Pooh" are Jeanette Darby, skunk; Shelia Ramage, eeyore; Judi Box, rabbit; Mary Ann Kocarek, owl; Clayton Marlowe as Christopher Marlowe; Ann Leu, rabbit; Terry Privateer as "Winnie the Pooh"; Janet Fineberg, roo; and Linda Quintero, piglet. The theater arts class presented the children's play to the public on Oct. 17th.

Coronado's Choralaires, an outstanding mixed chorus, rehearse under the direction of Mr. Robert Frazier.

The Coronado teaching body provides the administrative force behind the education of the Don. He is directed, instructed, and advanced by the knowledge and skill imparted to him by the . . .

Top Brass Polish Policies

Clyde F. Kidd, Principal

Since the beginning of Coronado, Clyde F. Kidd, principal, has worked hard to make Coronado among the best schools in the state. Mr. Kidd works with the school board in hiring personnel and deciding financial matters. Along with these duties, he is also in charge of public relations.

He has been affiliated with education for 15 years, and was assistant principal at Scottsdale High before coming to Coronado.

Clyde F. Kidd, Principal, enjoys a leisurely day of camping in the Arizona mountains. Outdoor living is his major means of relaxation.

Assistant principal in charge of guidance, registration, and student scheduling, Walter L. Armistead has completed his seventh year in the teaching profession. He received his BA and MA degrees from Arizona State University.

"Strike!" calls Ump Walter Armistead, who umpires commercial baseball games as a hobby. At bat is the Copmea team while Ace Blueprint is in the field.

William Kelley is the elected chairman of the Arizona Education Association convention which was held on November 6 and 7. Joseph Gatti, Lynn Harris and William Trott help Mr. Kelley check the special lighting and sound effects at the ASU auditorium.

William J. Kelley, assistant principal in charge of student discipline and student activities, has been in the educational field for 16 years. He obtained his BA and MA degrees from Arizona State University.

School Board Programs Learning

Dr. Charles C. Holt, superintendent of Scottsdale public schools, talks to the faculty of Coronado at a special meeting held in room 119. Listening intently are teachers Clarence Spong, math, and Michael Dant and Miss Judith Jones, English.

Dr. Charles C. Holt, superintendent of the school board, advises the school board on constructional and financial matters concerning Scottsdale public schools. Scottsdale has been home for the Holts for three years.

Assistant superintendent Ray Davis, in charge of Scottsdale educational matters for eight years, has worked in the field of education for 26 years.

Taking on the tone of barkers, Roy Buterbaugh and Mrs. Dianne Hunter work the stands selling concessions during the first home football game with Tempe. The money went into the teachers' scholarship fund for seniors.

After school hours, the rewarding hobby of planting and growing roses occupies much of Coronado secretary Florence Beck's spare time. Frequently, the school day was considerably brightened by the flowers she brought into the office. Mrs. Beck is secretary for the assistant principals.

Functioning of Coronado Improved by

Cafeteria workers Dee Fledderjohn, Helen Berrier, caf. head, Marlene Carroll, Cathy Wallerich, Mary DiVito, Bertina Vedvick, Frena Menn, Elizabeth Hoefler, Joan McFarland, Joan Looney, Helen Grones, Tina Van Wylen, Elenore Kay, Bette Godzsak, Christine Garrieff, Ann Lucas, Mildred Hildebrandt, Mildred Sechrest, Helen Vano, Sandra Wriland, Nettie Sedor, Ka Russell, Florence Olmsted, Joyce Taylor, Juanita Stone, Anita Melius, and Bonnie Motz are in charge of the preparation and serving of daily lunches.

Checking Coronado's driver education cars, security officer Charles McHugh is also in charge of directing traffic and patrolling the campus.

Pausing momentarily in a busy schedule, groundsmen Bill Warde, Russell Frakes, and C. R. Jolly must take the daily responsibility of keeping the trees, lawns, and shrubbery in letter-perfect condition.

Service Personnel

Twenty-seven cafeteria workers, headed by Mrs. Helen Berrier, worked many hours planning and preparing well-balanced lunches for students and personnel. Service lasted two hours as Dons were passed through the lines in four different time intervals.

Grounds, rooms, and buildings were kept clean and beautiful through the diligent work of groundsmen and custodians. These men labor long after campus and city curfew hours.

Security officer Charles McHugh was general overseer of the campus and students' goings-on.

Raymond Secchiari, assistant foreman, asks James Trapani, foreman, for his advice on the ordering of supplies. Mr. Secchiari and Mr. Trapani are in charge of maintenance around the school.

Divided into classes yet joined by the oneness of Coronado, Dons activate the campus with the characteristics of their personal identities. A combination of the novel with the general, the calm with the active, and the expected with the unexpected form the Coronado Don as he is separated into . . .

CLASSES

Seniors

As the time for graduation approached, many senior Dons looked back on the days at Coronado. For four years the Dons had worked at varied activities, striving for their ultimate goal of graduation.

Especially in their senior year, the Dons were active in all phases of school life. Sports, clubs and productions kept many busy.

Though their activities may have varied, every senior worked toward improvement in the social and academic fields—even endeavor had a purpose for these Dons.

Aiding the seniors throughout the year are class sponsors Clarence Spong, Robert Alley, Larry Bell, Walter Hoffman, Mrs. Evelyn Caskey, Mrs. Janice Autenrieth, and Mrs. Julia Farley.

From top, Lorin Shelley, president; Steve Maier, vice-president; Dave Rigg, boy representative; Laura Sahlin, treasurer; Lani Parker, secretary; Carolyn Charest, girl representative.

Resurrected 500 years after his famed search for the Seven Cities of Cibola, Francisco Vasquez de Coronado led another successful expedition for the Don's Homecoming victory. Senior Jim Priest took the guise of Coronado.

Juniors

United, the junior class maintained a busy pace conceiving ideas and projects in carrying through profitable endeavors. The class of '66 owed much of its success in sponsoring a well received Junior-Senior Prom to the outstanding support of class members.

Dances, concessions, spirit boosters, and a donkey basketball game highlighted the Junior class' activities this year.

Sophomores

"Friday the 13th" brought good luck to the sophomore class. Profits from the sale of pep cards, "Jinx the Jackrabbits," boosted their accumulation of funds for use in sponsoring the Junior-Senior Prom in '66.

Striving toward unity, the class joined forces again for the "Queen of Courts" dance; the monetary returns from which are designated for the '66 Prom.

Advising the Sophomore Class this year are Mrs. Jane Fitzgerald, Mrs. Lynn Harris, L. E. Crouse, and Mark Pemberton.

Freshmen

Trying to establish a firm foundation for their careers, the freshmen took their first giant step into high school.

Exhibiting team spirit and great enthusiasm, they participated in a large percentage of the school activities and class functions, and they helped to show their school spirit by selling beaver pelts the week before the Coronado-Scottsdale football game. The "little Dons" had the largest percentage of students at the football game the first time attendance was taken, and came in second in the contest of gathering wood for the Homecoming bonfire.

Officers who led the freshman class this year are, from top: Jon Worden, president; Chris Clark, vice president; Stephan Vance, boy representative; Ted Coopridner, treasurer; and Mary Ellen Vogel, secretary.

The end of a year is not the end of the Don. Each finale brings the awakening of a new phase for him. Reflecting upon himself, he is projected into the next year—the next phase—causing a new dawn to break over Coronado.

Diana,
we've really had some good times this year.
I used to be so lonely and take the long way with the machines. But every thing is happy now.
For love

Diana,
I hope you did better this year in bookkeeping than I did. Well, it's been a real good year and for you I hope they continue. Best of luck always.

Diana,
Well we made it through another year and just think only one more year to go!
It's really been great being in American History with you. (History ick)
Have fun this summer. Be seeing you next year. You're a real sweet girl.
Love ya Jicky Hulver

Diane,
I've just come to know you these past couple of months. I hope to see you this summer & next year.
Good luck to you in all you do. Barbara Schultz

Diane,
It's really fun - fun
getting to know you,
even tho it isn't very well.
I hope we get to see each other next year - even more.
Good luck always, & lots of love,

Diana,
I don't know ya to well
but from what I do know
I think you're pretty swell.
Hope to see ya around next year, ok? Best of luck always!

Diane "Moon Goddess" C.E.C., and vitamin A with B.C.!

Time sure has gone by fast
since the first day I met you about two and a half years ago.
Remember always when I pushed the button on Rodger when we went bowling that first night. We both just sat there & laughed till we cried. Don't forget all the songs and dances we've made up especially the one dance with all the signals "I Got Around" and how we both liked to listen to that part of "Don't Worry Baby".

I'm sure the Dry Scouts will never be the same since the bus tour they took when we were going on the picnic. The retreat was also a blast when we knocked on the walls all night! Also don't forget the
"3.B" dance and that Christmas party for the youth group. I'm looking forward to this summer when we are back in Ohio (we'll really knockin' dead!) The beach at Ballou should prove to be quite interesting as well as exciting (BOB?)! Although there is college ahead I hope we can still do a lot of things together in the future. You are a real good friend and lets keep it that way always. We shared a lot of times & laughs together and may we have many more. Good luck next year as a senior and may your future years be tall, dark and handsome! I don't want you to forget any of this now! You hear? I wish you much happiness & success in life.

Your friend always } Karin "Venus" R. Edmiston

Diane,

To one of the nicest girls I know,

If ya didn't always make fun of my driving and call me cheap (I can't understand why!)

I think I might even let ya be my friend.

See ya this summer cheap, to a really good kid.

Beatta (cheap)

Hi!
Gwendolyn
Have fun next year!
Oh almighty Jesus, I'll have fun next year!

It's been nice having you in study hall. Though I don't know you very well. Maybe next year we'll have a few classes together.

Good luck this summer!

Hi!
Blaney!
I've had a panic watching you in those relations! You're a real sweet kid, Blaney. There you will be happy and successful in all that you do. I'll bless you!
Love ya always

Diana,
I glad I finally got to meet you. It was really funny
how we met over the phone. I hope we have some classes
together next year.
Have a wonderful summer. Love,

Diane,

To the girl down
the street from the Boy down the street.

I've only met you twice but I guess
it's enough to write a long column like this. You're a real slick girl and it's been a pain seeing you walk down the street. It has been a nice past year
but it's starting to drag. I'm glad I finally met you because I knew I was lacking something in my hum drum life (only, just).
It's been a real ball
